GLENDAL ADVANCEMENT HAS BOOSTER MEETING FOR ELECTRIC LINE PROJECT

Senator Leslie Francis, W. L. Twining and Lon Haddock Describe the Meaning of the Cooperation on Canyon Fares

$13,000 REMAINS TO BE RAISED BY CITIZENS

Twining Urges All Glendale to Get in to the Work of Putting the Line Through for the Benefit of the Whole District

A big boost for the $25,000 bonus to secure the electrolyzing of the Union Pacific line by the Glendale-Montrose railroad on Glendale avenue was the chief feature of the meeting of the Glendale Advancement association Thursday noon, a boost to which three eloquent orators contributed: W. L. Twining, who has all the unevaporated enthusiasm of the new convert; Lon Haddock, who always has the vision of the future beckoning to him and who is always ready to help realize the vision, and last but not least, Senator Leslie Francis, who has associated himself with H. H. Barnum in the project to develop a very high class subdivision the Sparr acreage north of Verdugo Woodlands.

EASTERN FIRMS SEEK GLENDALE LOCATIONS

C. of C. Busy With Correspondence From Those Moving Westward

Though this is the dull season, or is popularly supposed to be, the chamber of commerce finds plenty to do answering the inquiries of the people who are viewing California as the promised land, and looking longingly in this direction in the hope of coming here to live.

The real mission of a California chamber of commerce is to welcome the stranger and assist him in getting located, and to give out information to prospective new citizens.

As a sample of routine work, Secretary Rhoades, of the chamber of commerce, went over his letter files of two days to show the character of the correspondence. The files included an inquiry from a maker of hand instruments who fancied Glendale would make a good site for his factory. A Rockford, Illinois, man wanted to know about a possible opening here for an ice cream plant. Men from Sparks, Nev.; St. Paul, Minn.; Mitchell, S. D.; and Bath, Me., who wanted to escape the rigors of cold winters, asked for information about Glendale, its schools, churches, nearness to Los Angeles, etc.

A Twin Falls, Idaho, resident, who has closed out his business there, wrote concerning business openings in Glendale, asking a great variety of questions about public parks, schools, public comfort stations and the like.

Now that the city has the Glendale-Verdugo park, and improvements are going forward in the Patterson avenue pleasure ground, with prospects of an addition to that park, it was possible for the secretary to send a very favorable reply.

A Medford, Oregon, man wants a location for a manufacturing plant. These are but samples which could be multiplied of the many "standing afar off" who have heard of Glendale through some newspaper clipping, folders found on a dining car, in a chamber of commerce in some eastern city, or in a hotel and who have been interested in the story told.

VALLEY FOLKS CALL MEETING

An important meeting of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association will be held Wednesday evening, September 13, in the new market building of William Griffin, 806-10-12 South San Fernando road.

They will take up the matter of helping the Glendale Improvement association get the electrification of Glendale avenue and will give all the support they can. Several other important matters will also be taken care of.

The bargain shown in this space yesterday was sold last night.

Don't you think it will be worth your while to look into this? The name of the dealer handling this property can be found on the classified ad page of today's paper. Be the lucky one this time. Investigate!

CRESCENTA VALLEY FOR ELECTRICITY

Improvement Ass'n. and Montrose Citizens Give $325 as Start

SEEK MORE PLEDGES

Glendale Boosters Impress Needs of the District and Benefit to All

Unqualified support of the movement to electrify the steam line on Glendale avenue, was given by the people of La Crescenta valley last night, at a meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement association in the school house at that place. As an initial step along this line the La Crescenta and Montrose people who were present at the meeting pledged $325 to the project, and stated, as this was only a start. A committee of Crescenta valley people was appointed to circulate petitions throughout the entire valley. That committee will lay out an intensive plan of action and early Monday morning will be on the job. The workers are determined to do their full share toward raising the $15,000 that is still necessary to put the proposition over the top.

A whole flock of Glendale boosters made the trip to the northern town to attend this meeting and to impress upon the people of that place the importance of securing this line, which will be untold benefit to the people of the La Crescenta valley, just as it will be to Glendale. The Glendale speakers at the meeting were P. J. Hayselden, who has been given complete charge of the campaign; Lon Haddock, of the Haddock-Nibley company, and W. L. Twining, Glendale representative of the F. P. Newton company. In a very interesting manner these speakers told the residents to the north just what the line will be, what it will do, how much it will take to do it. Every Crescenta resident at the meeting realized what the Glendale people and others interested in the project were doing.

The remaining preliminary campaign work is now being done in both Glendale and La Crescenta, that everything will be ready for the start of the intensive drive Monday morning. The workers have blood in their eyes and are determined to put the drive over within the stated time.

Chatsworth Lake Reservoir Barred to All Fishermen

No fishing of any kind is allowed in any of the reservoirs, which include Chatsworth lake, according to a statement made by the city hall of Los Angeles.

A number of inquiries have been made by Glendale folk who were planning fishing trips to the lake, so the matter was settled by calling the department in charge.

The great benefit to you in a business and progressive sense will be the closer linking of that valley with the city of Los Angeles. It means not merely the saving of a few thousands to those who ride, it means you have brought that community miles and minutes nearer the heart of things in Los Angeles. With the opening of that avenue of travel, people will come here to settle. It means added population to your community, that people will come here to live who will not come under adverse conditions, and bring with them the trade that will help to develop your community. So, from the point of view of the great business interests of this community, the line is served in time, and money, and increased population, I am willing to contribute towards this enterprise. I think every business man in Glendale who has any interest to promote, should be back of this project.

The senator did not close without the sly dig that the eastern man usually gives the seasoned westerner. Said he: "From the stories of the west I have absorbed I have discovered that my imagination needs lubrication. It doesn't work well enough. Knowing this enthusiasm I am surprised it should be necessary to tear around to raise $25,000 for a project like this. The people ought to come in and make you take their money because of the benefits to the community, but how to it do it?"

As a further stimulant to action Mr. Twining stated that the representative of the railroad who has been commissioned to buy the rolling stock for the extension of the Glendale-Montrose line, has his transportation secured, and will leave the day he receives the assurance that the whole of the $25,000 has been subscribed. That start will mean that within four months from the date the money is placed in escrow, the cars will be running on Glendale avenue, for that is one of the conditions under which the bonus is being contributed. "So," said he, "the sooner you get busy and raise the money,

THE BIG EGO

The theory that the English alphabet is being worked out upon a mathematical basis might call for a few denials at first glance. It is true to a very high degree, however.

We think in personal equations, with the personal pronoun, I, on the left-hand side of the equation sign. Every question to be answered is solved with only the amount of precision in proportion to the personal concern it is to number one. Number one is the numerator of every fraction. It cannot be reduced.

The disinterested study of affairs, where there is no direct personal appeal, is as rare as Eskimos in South Africa. After all the thousands of years, since Cain and Abel enacted the eternal tragedy involving the age-old question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" and with all the teachings of religious creeds that would seem to point to an affirmative answer, we still refuse to accept the responsibility.

The question is not, and always refuses to be, "How will this thing affect my brother?" or any other relation, for that matter, but still imposes itself in the form, "How is this thing going to affect me?"

If it doesn't affect US, we don't care! We may affect to, but deep down in our innermost hearts we are saying, "I'm glad I'm not the one," when anyone meets with trouble.

One of the best illustrations of our "number one" system is our "obedience" to laws. We obey them so long as they don't interfere with our personal liberty—and what license is sometimes dressed in the garb of liberty!

It is personal "liberty" that a man uses when he violates the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States, and the failure to enforce this amendment is not so much due to a laxity on the part of federal officers as to an overdose of the "number one" propaganda now at a flourishing stage.

We might say that a little of that goes a long way, referring to the above mentioned propaganda.

HORSESHOERS ARE TEX ROGERS BACK READY FOR STATE TOURNAMENT

Second Annual Event to Be Held at Long Beach Opening Sept. 28.

The Glendale Horseshoe and Tourist club is still doing business at the old stand and will participate in the second annual tournament of the state on September 28, 29 and 30, at Long Beach.

Even if the weather is hot, one of their teams, which they call their Furniture team, went to Long Beach last Saturday and played 20 games, winning 11. They call the furniture team because both men are in that line of business. They are Len E. Porter and A. W. Austey. The club sounds as if West Broadway, near Central avenue.

The annual tournament was held in Glendale last year. This year it will be at Long Beach. One year ago there were only 5 clubs in the state association, but this year there are 14 clubs, representing 11 different cities, three of the 14 being in Los Angeles.

It is planned that some $400 will be given in cash prizes at the coming tournament.

CARL JOHNSON IS CHALLENGED

Allen Foss, Iowa's champion middleweight wrestler, issues challenge to Carl Johnson of Glendale, formerly wrestling instructor of New York Athletic club.

This communication has been received from Mr. Foss challenging Mr. Johnson. Mr. Foss is one of the best middleweights in the country and is willing to meet Carl Johnson in a finish match to decide the championship. Foss claims to have never been defeated at his weight and believes he can defend his title against Johnson.

GREEK CABINET OUT

ATHENS, Sept. 8.—Defeat of Greek forces in Asia Minor caused the downfall of the Greek cabinet here yesterday. The cabinet here yesterday was the one that Constantine may be driven from the throne by enemies using the Turkish victories as a lever to oust him.

The sooner the line will come into existence.

Two other reports were made, one by Charles Stanley, to the effect that proposals in connection with the three sites offered for the proposed branch postoffice had been filed with Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, and by him referred to Congressman Lineberger for endorsement, after which they would be forwarded to Washington; that meanwhile the postmaster wanted certain statistics concerning the nearness of the sites to the proposed new transportation line, the new hotel, the city hall, etc., and that Mrs. Mercer, who was the acting secretary of the day, in the absence of Herman Nelson, agreed to furnish.

The other report concerned the West Broadway extension and the project to throw a bridge across the Los Angeles river to Griffith park. Councilman Davis stated the city planning commission of Los Angeles had never considered any location except Colorado street, as the bridge was not being located for Glendale alone, but for the whole country to the east.

Not as large a company as usual was present because many members were guests of the Rotary club, but covers were laid for about forty.

MARINES LANDED CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.

American marines have landed at Smyrna and are taking steps to protect United States citizens as the Turkish nationalist army, driving defeated Greeks before it, nears this city, according to reports reaching here today.

GLENDAL POST IS RECOGNIZED AT SAN JOSE

Two Delegates Are Signally Honored at Legion Convention

Glendale delegates to the statewide American Legion convention, in session all this week at San Jose, have received an unexpected amount of recognition, according to word received here. Those chosen to make the trip from the local post were James McBryde, Robert Rowley and H. C. Smith.

James McBryde was elected to membership on the state credentials committee on Tuesday. He enjoyed the honor of being one of three chosen for this work. Owing to the settings of the various delegations at the convention, Mr. McBryde was forced to walk the full length of the hall, amid cheers, to take his place on the committee.

He is also on a committee called upon to extend the greetings of the Legion to the Women's Auxiliary, which is meeting at the same time. Mr. McBryde reports that he and the other members of this delegation were royally received by the Women's Auxiliary.

Robert Rowley was chosen from the ninth district to membership on the state Americanization committee. This was the second signal honor accorded to local delegates.

A unique idea for identification adopted by the Glendallians is that of tiny pom-poms, worn as armbands, bearing the name of our city. These banners have a somewhat checkered past, since they were originally purchased for members of the Klitites' band, who represented Glendale at the Pasadena tournament of roses four years ago. Members of the convention have hailed this scheme of identification as the cleverest one of the year.

The three delegates will return on Saturday. Although the post was entitled to six representatives, only three of those chosen were able to attend.

SPLASH WAS THE BIG NOISE AT POOL

Ladies Take Possession of Patterson Park Swimming Arena

Splash! That was the sound heard Thursday afternoon at the Patterson avenue swimming pool when the ladies of Glendale were given the privilege of enjoying the pool to themselves.

About 70 ladies turned out, and all enjoyed the afternoon swimming, diving and basking in the sun. L. R. James, manager of the pool, states that he had expected many more ladies, but that if more ladies do not turn out, he will have to let the boys in, too, for he had to turn away 100 lads yesterday.

Some have complained that the water was cold, but it is just right for swimming. It is a little colder than most plunges, but this is because the water is changed so often in order to keep clean.

If one stays in the water until they are ready to get dressed, the cold wind will not strike him and he will avoid that chilly feeling.

Not as many girl scouts turned out at the noon hour as had been expected, so the swimming test was postponed until a later date. The woman who did go had a splendid time, and the life guard instructed them in diving and other stunts.

MISS JONES IS CLEARED BY JURY

Declares Killing of W. P. Holywell Was Unavoidable on Her Part

"Unavoidable" was the verdict of the coroner at the inquest held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock over the body of W. P. Holywell, of 533 Glenwood road, who was injured Wednesday afternoon when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by a machine piloted by Miss C. E. Jones of Pacific avenue. The coroner exonerated Miss Jones from all blame.

C. S. HAMILTON JOINS POLICE

Glendale's police department was increased yesterday by the appointment of C. S. Hamilton of 350 Ivy street to the position of patrolman. It is high time for the crooks of the city to select berths elsewhere.

THE WEATHER
Southern California: Tonight fair, Saturday fair and warmer. Los Angeles and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, with somewhat higher temperature Saturday.

DOG AND CAT KILLING NETS 26 ANIMALS

Start in Elimination of Stray Menaces is Made in City

ONLY A BEGINNING

Muzzled or Unmuzzled Street Wanderers to Be Removed

Eighteen stray cats and eight wandering dogs were killed by the anti-cat and dog brigade of Glendale Thursday—and the slaughter has just started. These animals were found straying around the streets of the city, thereby endangering the lives of the children and grown-ups of Glendale. The police department and city officials are working on the theory that it is better to rid the city of the cat or dog in which the owner does not have sufficient interest to keep at home, than to run the risk of the little folks of Glendale being bitten and afflicted with rabies.

Eighteen cats and eight dogs is quite a haul for one day, but the police department stated this morning that this is only a beginning. The officers are absolutely no spectators of dogs or cats. Any animal found on the streets, muzzled or no muzzled, will be killed.

The city officials of Glendale are not taking this action entirely on their own initiative, although they are entirely in sympathy with the movement. The official of the state, it is understood, have ordered this procedure. The city will be quarantined within a few days, according to reports, and if the orders of the state are not enforced by the local authorities, the state will order the work done.

Nothing will save a pet if it is permitted to run upon the streets. "If a man thinks anything of his dog or cat," said Mayor Robinson this morning, "he will be glad to keep it at home. If he doesn't, it is better that the animal be put away. In enforcing this law we are working strictly in the interest of the residents of Glendale. One child is worth all the animals in the state and we are not going to run the chance of any of the precious little ones being killed by either a dog or cat, if we can help it. If anyone in Glendale is bitten by a dog or cat and contracts rabies it will not be because we have neglected doing our duty to the city, but in spite of our doing our duty."

"I realize there will be a big howl from the owners of dogs and cats in Glendale, but they can howl all they want to—this law is going to be enforced in Glendale, and that to the limit. We have laws prohibiting speeding, stealing, killing and the like, why not a law keeping dogs and cats off the streets of this city?"

"So, Mr. Dog Owner and Mr. Cat Owner, watch your step. Take care of your dog yourself, or the officials of Glendale will."

830 REGISTER AT HIGH SCHOOL IN THREE DAYS

Today Ends Enrollment for Week; Work Begins Monday

Registrations at Glendale union high school on Thursday numbered about 200, bringing the total to $30 for the three days in which students have been enrolling. Friday will be the last enrollment day for the week. Saturday being reserved for conferences with teachers.

Monday when the school opens will probably bring another heavy registration, as many students who have been absent on vacation will return with the end of the present week.

DOG BITES SON OF MRS. DRAGO

The little son of Mrs. Drago, 1014 East Elk street, was bitten by a dog at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The little fellow was taken at once to the Glendale police department and was later removed to the office of Health Officer Dr. Kaemmerling, where the wound was cauterized. The dog that did the biting was captured and is being held to see if rabies develop.

JURY CLEARS THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

A verdict of unavoidable death was rendered in connection with the accident on Airplane drive, Tuesday, in which H. A. Bailey, driver of a sand truck, was killed. No element of blame was placed on the engineer of the Southern Pacific train which struck the truck.

$85 CLEARED BY ST. MARK'S GUILD

Despite Heavy Expense, Dinner Dance Was Huge Success

In report read Thursday afternoon at the regular meeting of St. Mark's Guild, it was announced that $85 was cleared from the dinner-dance given by the Guild on the evening of August 31 at a Masonic temple. This was a splendid sum considering the heavy expense.

The meeting yesterday was held at the home of Mrs. J. L. McOmber, 1530 East Broadway with 35 ladies present. The president, Mrs. Mortimer Baker was in charge.

Besides the report on the dinner-dance, discussion came up about the Guild building a parish house. This matter was left to be decided upon at a later date. Following the business session, a social time was enjoyed, in which Mrs. McOmber served punch and homemade nut cookies. Out of town guests were Mrs. Noise, Mrs. George Cornwell and Miss Cornell from Pasadena and Mrs. Barron of Los Angeles.

From now on meetings will be held every Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Guild hall of St. Mark's Episcopal church.

SHUCK TO VISIT GRAND CANYON

Fred V. Shuck of the Shuck Music company, is bringing his parents and sister to Glendale, and the party is driving through from St. Louis, Mo. They will visit the following cities en route: Kansas City, Mo., Liberal, Kan., Guthrie, Okla., Amarillo, Texas, Albuquerque, N. M., Adamanna, Ariz., Flagstaff, Ariz., Hingham, Ariz., Barstow, Cal., winding up at that town which one sometimes hears of, Glendale, Cal. They also will stop at the Grand Canyon.

While in the East, Mr. Shuck purchased a large stock of new pianos and photographs. A huge sale is now on at the Shuck Music company, which is being held to make room for the new stock.

LA CRESCENTA PERSONALS

Mrs. Tilser and her two sons, of Oak street, returned on Saturday from a very pleasant two weeks' vacation in San Francisco, where they were the guests of Mrs. Tilser's mother and sister.

Numerous friends in Montrose of Mrs. Henry Hooker, of East Honolulu street, were very happy on Sunday to welcome her home from Los Angeles, where she has just undergone a serious operation.

KING BOLTS IN FORESTRY WORK

Forest Examiner Shinn Tells of Service People Can Perform

By CHARLES SHINN
Forest Examiner

Once, in California, years ago, a lazy workman overhauling an old wagon, neglected to look at the front axle king bolt. It broke on a grade, the wagon and the people in it fell more than a hundred feet. Nearly everything in life has a king bolt somewhere; the front axle turns upon it; the success or failure of the affair depends upon its tenacity.

Now, let us question the problem of human existence upon this planet. If we go to the desert places, such as the Sahara and Libya, see their awful desolations, study their nomads and their dwellers in the infrequent cases, traveling thither with Sir Richard Barton, Mrs. Rosita Forbes, and others, we shall inevitably reach the conclusion that man's existence depends upon plant life, and chiefly upon the greater forms of plant life which most prevent erosion, create soil, conserve moisture. There fore, our watchword becomes "Save the Forests."

Does the reader ask what he or she can do to help? The answer is simple: Study them, visit them, spend vacations in the most accessible national forest. Observe the methods of lumbering on private lands. Read some books on the conservation of natural resources. Forestry means the fullest protection and best use of the timber resources of a region. Our American forests annually about 800,000 people, pay out over four hundred million dollars in wages and yield something like one and a half million dollars worth of products. This includes, of course, all our public and private forest areas.

Gather them up together and make the road survey of America's timber lands—it totals about $50 million acres, unsuited for agriculture. Nevertheless, there is none to waste; in fact, we must save all we have, plant more, introduce better methods, economize in every possible direction. If we fail to do this, books, magazines, newspapers, wrapping paper, boxes, pasteboard, houses, etc., will cost more every year.

Education of the public in forest needs, forest values, has made a sturdy beginning, but it will go on to larger undertakings. We must have complete fire protection. Our out-wood lands must be reforested. Scientific forest management must become the rule in lumbering on all private lands.

GOING THEM ONE BETTER

Mrs. Gassaway—Have you heard that the president of the electric company has had his little girl christened "Electra"?

Mr. Gassaway (president of the gas company)—Then we will call our little girl "Gassandra."

SOIL MAP FOR EARTH SELLERS

Santa Ana to Stage Novel Exhibition at Big Meeting

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—One of the special features at the December meeting of the California Real Estate association at Santa Ana will be an especially prepared soil map of California.

The map has been prepared by Prof. Charles B. Shaw of the University of California, agricultural department.

The purpose of the exhibit is to get realtors interested in a study of the soil in the vicinity of their fields of operation. According to Freeman H. Bloodgood, president of the Santa Ana realty board, the realtor who has a thorough knowledge of the soils stands a much better chance of completing a real estate deal with a practical farmer, or in interesting a prospective investor in California farm lands.

Furthermore, he protects himself by knowing exactly what he is selling, and hence betters his general reputation.

The Santa Ana board will have the cooperation of the Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton boards in entertaining the state convention. The largest attendance of any convention thus far is expected, when December 7, 8 and 9 roll around.

LA CRESCENTA

By Mrs. Franklin L. Smith, Montrose.

La Crescenta, lovely crescent, Almost circled by the hills; Lavender and rose at sunrise, Gold and rose, as sunset thrills.

Crimson when the storm clouds threaten, Blue when rain clouds fill the sky, Purple in the hazy twilight As the day is drifting by.

Moonlight lends a mystic glory, Day discloses oak and pine, Spring brings flowers, summer birdsongs, Winter, snow in splendor fine!

Peaceful, verdant little valley, E'en the rain-days seem replete With an ever-changing picture As the clouds and hill-sides meet.

At the gateway to this valley Lies the village of Montrose, Enterprising, growing thrifty As its population grows.

Distant mountains tower above it, Radiating Old-World lure, Guarded by quaint castle-mansions, Switzerland in miniature.

You can never tell how a girl looks at the breakfast table by her makeup at the opera in the evening.

ROLAND SQUARE IS BEING ABSORBED RAPIDLY

Glendale Folks Are Buyers in Anticipation of Increased Price

It is pleasing to note the rapidity with which the northwest section of the city is going ahead. The people of Glendale have evidently awakened to the possibilities of this section, judging from the numerous sales of lots in Roland Square during the past week. This tract is situated between Doran and Patterson and Kenilworth and Chester, and faces the city park on the north.

Roland Square was put on the market only a week ago by the J. R. Grey Realty company, and to date almost half of the 100 lots have been disposed of. Many of these lots were taken by residents of Glendale who were quick to see the advantage of securing one of these choice lots at the low price offered.

At his office at 124 North Brand boulevard J. R. Grey says: "It is only a matter of six months when it will be impossible to buy one of these lots for less than $2000. We are going straight through with all the improvements, there being at present about 50 men preparing the streets for paving and putting in the sidewalks and curbs. Immediately these improvements are completed your own judgment will tell you where the prices will go."

Nathan Rigdon, one of the best known builders in the city, is hauling the material for four foundations to his lots right now, and as soon as the foundations are in he will commence building. It is to build 12 residences in the tract of a type that will cost from $4500 to $8500. Several other builders who have purchased lots in Roland Square will commence operations within two weeks, or as soon as material can be put on the tract.

Doran and Patterson are to be paved through to San Fernando road with 5-inch paving, and, as these streets run right through this tract it will stimulate the growth of this section to a great degree. A recent statement by Mayor Robinson and members of the city council to the effect that a number of improvements scheduled for the city park and swimming pool would be pushed to completion immediately, will make this section of the city one of the most desirable to be obtained.

Aside from the sale of lots in Roland Square, Mr. Grey reports the sale of several houses and lots in other parts of the city during the week, and it is his opinion that real estate will become considerably more active during the next four months than it has been for some time past. Mr. Grey has taken over the management of several courts and business properties for their owners, and is now conducting an up-to-the-minute general real estate business at the new offices he has remodeled in the old postoffice building at 124 North Brand boulevard.

ISLE-BERRY NUPTIALS CELEBRATED

The many friends of Jim Henry Ilse will be pleased to learn of his marriage Thursday morning to Miss Mildred Berry of Covina, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Berry. Rev. Betts, pastor of the Methodist church at Hollywood, officiated.

Miss Berry was charming in a gown of white. She wore a veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. There were no attendants, and only relatives and intimate friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony, following which an informal reception was held and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Ilse is a graduate of Berkeley university, and it was during their school days that the couple first met. She is a very talented young lady, being quite an accomplished pianist.

Mr. Ilse, who is the son of Mrs. Hallie Ilse of 1010 East Windsor road, is a graduate of Glendale Union high school with the class of 1914 and served in the world war in France for 18 months. He was in the Four Hundred and Eleventh Telegraph battalion of the Signal corps. He is at present employed with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company in the main office at Los Angeles and has been with them for seven years.

Following the reception the young couple left by automobile for a camping trip to the mountains. They will be at home to their many friends after October first at their own home, 445 West Milford street.

NOTES OF THE ADVENTIST CAMP

Elder A. G. Daniels from Washington, D. C. is giving special instructions at 8 o'clock each morning.

During the conference session at 3 p. m. the delegates voted to establish an academy in the Southern California conference.

Harold Walton, dietitian from Loma Linda medical college, gave a very interesting lecture at the 2 p. m. hour, on the need of making a proper selection in food.

One interesting corner found in the camp is the book tent. The books loaned by the Seventh-day Adventist people are printed in 101 languages throughout the world. Others are being added. In the book stand on the camp, all books of the various languages spoken in this part of the country are being handled.

Meetings are being conducted for the kindergarten, primary, intermediate and young people twice a day, each division having its own tent and its own instruction.

DISTINCTIVE COSTUMES FROM PARIS

At the left is a sleeveless gown of orange georgette, attractively trimmed with red beads. The skirt is the latest ankle length model, draped on either side to the heel. The other features a short coat of embroidered black satin, lined with the same material in white, which is also carried out in a triangle effect in the front.

KAFATERIA SHOE STORE MAKES HIT

Opening Day Marked by Heavy Sales and Big Crowds

The Kafateria Shoe Store, 126 North Brand, reports a big business on its opening day, and the manager, P. R. Cushman, is much pleased with the splendid reception given his store by the Glendale people.

"Sales on the opening day were very heavy," said Mr. Cushman, "and the people showed their appreciation of our entrance into Glendale by their many kindly remarks and well wishes. We shall save Glendale people money on their shoes, for we will sell here just as reasonable as we do in Los Angeles," concluded Mr. Cushman.

WORK BEGINS ON PLUMB BUILDING

Teams are at work excavating for the foundation and basement of the two-story brick building which is being erected at the northeast corner of Harvard street and Maryland avenue, opposite the high school, for Wallace Plumb. It will cover 50 by 126 feet and contain six store rooms and eight apartments. Doubtless the eight apartments will be snapped up by high school teachers if they can secure them. The site will be remembered as the lot which bore the sign, "For Sale for $7,000."

ACACIA MOTHERS ARE ENTERTAINED

The Acacia Avenue Mothers' club was entertained at a silver tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Percy Prialux, 128 West Park avenue. The afternoon hours were devoted to making curtains and cushions to help furnish the teachers' new rest room at the Acacia avenue school.

At the close of a pleasant social afternoon Mrs. Prialux served pineapple sherbet and cake, and a silver collection was taken to help furnish the new room.

Those present included Mrs. Edward Strong, Mrs. Clyde Sudlow, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Miss May Cornwell, Mrs. Finn, Mrs. Ostrander and the hostess, Mrs. Prialux.

The next meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at the school, with Miss May Cornwell, teacher, as hostess. At this time the ladies will put up their new curtains and set in place the new wicker furniture in the teachers' rest room.

CITY PUMPING PLANT ROBBED

Thieves broke into the Glendale city pumping station, located at the intersection of San Fernando road and Grand View avenue, Wednesday night, and made away with a quantity of tools. Officers are now working on the case, but up to the present time nothing has been heard of the whereabouts of the missing articles or the thieves.

STIR AND BUSTLE 'SILENT BOOST' FOR BUSINESS

Playtime Is Over and Everybody Returns to Routine of Life

Summer is gone. There is an infectious stir and bustle of preparation in the business district that discourages any more vacationing. It is probably the "silent boost" we hear the Rotarians talk about, but it is resistless and summons the husband and father to his business routine, and inspires the partner of his joys and sorrows to put her house in order and make ready for the fall social campaign.

The merchants are generally found opening new shipments and if they are clothes of the genius feminine, they are hard to get away from.

Mr. Hatz of the Hatz Shop was thus engaged when found a day or two since shaking out some new models just received from New York. With these he demonstrated that skirts are much wider except the few that have been made extremely long and even those points descend to the ground are fairly wide compared with some of the pillow-top skirts, which have been gaily we can't say "haunted" because they were too tight for that. We will have to compromise on "exhibition."

They say the flapper must go. Goodbye, dear girl, we shall miss your riot of color, your breezy disdain of tiresome conventionality. You have been refreshing, but then again "they say" you overdid it.

Mr. Hatz pointed out that the panel is proving a very interesting feature of the prevailing skirt, not only giving a deceptive appearance of length and thus allowing us to enjoy the comfort of the short skirt.

Every woman owes it to herself and to those who love her—to KEEP her beautiful.

For carelessness and lack of attention are such a direct reflection of lessening pride.

Beauty as a responsibility!

FASHION MAKERS ARE STUDENTS OF PSYCHOLOGY

Change Is Needed to Reconcile Humans to Slavery of Clothes

When all is said and done, there are no greater students of psychology than the makers of fashions. They know instinctively when the poor slaves to clothes must have new and different trappings to reconcile them to their chains, and presto! a new style appears and we renew our interest in life. Even if it be the almost identical cut of the gown our grandmother wore over which we have smiled when viewing her portrait, so eager are we to welcome novelty we are ready to accept a pretender and shut our eyes to his antecedents.

Therefore, Mrs. Pendroy is strictly right when she says: "We are having no trouble in persuading women to wear longer skirts. The majority of women like the new, graceful lines and when they see the new gown on a model, they can easily see why they must wear it longer, as otherwise the whole effect would be destroyed. Women really like skirts a little longer than they have been wearing them, but are not in favor of the ground length for sanitary and other reasons. A few lovely ballroom gowns that were extremely long have been seen here and in New York, but it is doubtful if any of them will be seen on the street."

"For the fashion revue which I am putting on the 26th at the Glendale theatre as a benefit for the Tuesday Afternoon club, I shall have some interesting things to show in gowns and outer garments, including some lovely evening wraps, both light and dark, recently imported from Paris, also semi-evening wraps in navy and Sorento blue and black."

"I am now having hats made to be worn with the costumes exhibited and will feature the 'Rex' hat, a wonderful line of creations put out by a New York milliner for women of discriminating taste, with no two styles alike, and I shall not permit these hats to be copied in our workshop."

"I shall also show some beautiful evening dresses likely to be in demand for social functions in the prospect for the fall season. The lace dress will be prominent. It has never been more popular than now. Spanish and radium laces being special favorites."

A little while longer, but providing a medium for a decoration of embroidery, lace or fringe.

The very newest gowns that are being turned out, he says, are of chiffon velvet, and he predicts that fabric will be exceedingly popular later in the season.

All the new weaves for coats—Pan Valene, Medallist and Norma Glow, have a pile suggestive of velvet or plush with depths of color that make them luxurious in appearance even without the enhancing effect of lavish embroideries and fur collars and cuffs. All are made with large sleeves that suggest the dolman, though the cut is different.

The most popular fur, for coat trimming, is caracul, chiefly in black. A close second is platinum fox, dyed to match the precious metal that is so much in demand.

Of course there are the rough, woolly garments that used to be called "pelo coats" but are now "top coats," for motoring and everyday wear, mostly in tans, browns and tweed mixtures.

Vacuum cups intended to grip a road surface are included in a recently patented automobile tire chain.

WOMAN'S PLACE IN BUILDING THE HOME

Decision in Building Nearly Always Waits Upon Her Majesty

The pros and cons of the dictum, "A Woman's Place Is in the Home," have formed the basis of many a pretty discussion, but there is no room for dispute in the minds of the man who sells real estate, finances homes or builds them as to the woman's position when it comes to choosing a home. Not a man in any of these fields but will tell you that in at least 80 per cent of such cases it is the woman's word that rules, nor is there any doubt in their minds that this is as it should be, since the home has been built around the woman since the dawn of time.

It is therefore of peculiar interest to women to learn that a new financial force has come into the local field to help them in their home building instinct—an organization which comes directly to the aid of those who desire to escape from the uneconomical burden of continuous rent paying. The Security Housing corporation is an aggregation of well-known Los Angeles capitalists who believe that the "Own Your Home" movement may best be advanced by helping to finance wage earners, workers and persons of moderate means who have taken or are ready to take the first step toward getting their own home. It appeals particularly to those who have bought a lot or who have selected a lot and made some payments on it. It deals directly with the man or woman for whom the home is intended. It is not organized to deal speculatively with builders or contractors seeking to make a large profit from the home-owning desires of worthy individuals.

According to the officials of the Security Housing corporation, the coming year will see more homes built in Glendale than ever before, and it is their desire to give financial assistance to the movement. Although it is only a few months since this $2,000,000 corporation was organized, these officials say that they have made loans to a very large number of people whose ambition it is to own a small home of moderate size. These loans, in the majority of cases, amount to 70 per cent of the total cost of house and lot, the remaining 30 per cent being supplied by the prospective home owner, either in the form of a clear lot, equity in a lot and some cash, or entirely cash.

The Security Housing plan contemplates, however, not merely the financing of the home-owning project, but it furnishes a service bureau which undertakes, to assume the manifold details attached to building operations. All necessary legal advice is furnished, titles taken care of, plans are suggested or supplied, established or checked, the reliability of contractors is investigated, the actual construction of the home is supervised at every step. All these services, it is explained, not only save the prospective home-owner much time and money, but give assurance that every trouble is eliminated and a good, well-built house made certain.

Loans made by the corporation are repayable over a ten-year term in such manner that the burden is no greater than paying rent, the officials declare.

GARDEN PARTY AT KAEMMERLINGS' IS ENJOYABLE

Ladies of Congregational Church Serve Unmuzzled Dogs

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerhard Kaemmerling, corner of Orange and Lexington drive, provided a very beautiful setting for the garden party given Thursday evening by ladies of the Congregational church as a benefit for the organ fund.

The night was warm, like an eastern midsummer evening, and up and down the street, as one approached, could be heard the sound of talk and laughter from the porches.

The sight of the charming grounds under the radiance of festoons of electric lights, would have compensated the patrons, independent of the special entertainment features and booths, but these were liberally patronized, especially the punch booth under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. P. Abell, and the stand where cold dogs were dispensed by Mrs. Irene McReynolds and Mrs. A. S. Chase, the host, who is the city health officer, having given a permit for the dogs to go out unmuzzled.

"Jim's store," conducted by Mrs. E. D. Yarrick, was a delightful bit of mystery, where for a dime one was permitted to reach through an opening and clutch a package. As most of the packages were worth much more than the dime, it was a decided bargain sale.

Delicious home-made candy, dispensed by Mrs. A. Angier's committee, was a strong magnet, as was also the fortune-teller's tent, where Carmenta revealed the future of all who crossed her palm with silver.

The goup dance was a never-failing joy to the youngsters, and the guessing contest engineered by Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, provided a lot of diversion for clever patrons, who were to be found in odd corners studying the questions to be answered. Through it all was the insistent, irregular rhythm of jazz numbers played by the young people's orchestra under the leadership of Miss Winifred Parker.

It was one of the most pleasant affairs that has taken place within the month and deserved a larger patronage than it received.

GLENDALE DRY GOODS CO. TO CELEBRATE

Rounds Out First Year In City With Big Sale

The Glendale Dry Goods company has rounded out the first year's business here, and is celebrating the event today by putting on its first anniversary sale, and giving the Glendale people a feast of bargains that should draw big crowds to this popular store.

"Our business has been very good," said Joe Holzman, one of the proprietors, "and we have endeavored to give the people a store that would serve them in the best possible manner. We sincerely express our thanks to the people of Glendale for the splendid business given us, and we shall make it our aim to give them the best goods at the lowest possible prices."

The Holzmans own a department store at San Pedro, which gives them a buying power that enables them to sell goods at very attractive prices. Joe Holzman and Miss M. Holzman are owners of the Glendale store, and the Holzman is proprietor of the San Pedro store. The business of the Glendale store is growing right along, and more room will be added and new stock put in to accommodate the growing business in Glendale.

SO. CAL. GAS ASKS NEW INDUSTRIAL RATES

Wishes to Compete With Oil in Industries at $1 Per Barrel

In order to compete with oil the Southern California Gas company requested permission of the railroad commission today to put into effect a new schedule of industrial rates based on oil at $1 a barrel. The proposed schedule is: L—25c per M cubic feet, monthly guarantee $1.50 M—22 1/2c per M cubic feet, monthly guarantee 1.75 N—20c per M cubic feet, monthly guarantee 2.00 O—17 1/2c per M cubic feet, monthly guarantee 3.50 The company asks that the rates proposed shall automatically increase one-half cent per thousand cubic feet for each 3 cent a barrel increase of fuel oil over the $1 base, up to a maximum rate of 30 cents per thousand cubic feet.

FASHION CENTER IN MONARCH BUILDING

Very Latest in Vogue to Be Shown at New Establishment

The Fashion Center, a new business establishment for Glendale, will open its doors about September 20, at 202 South Brand boulevard, in the Monarch company's building, which is just being completed. It is the intention of the proprietors of this establishment to make their store the fashion center of Glendale, a place where the ladies of this city may go when they are desirous of ascertaining the very latest along the fashion line.

The four proprietors of this establishment are thoroughly experienced along their particular lines. M. J. McKinnon, formerly with the Weinstock-Lubin company of San Francisco, the Bon Marche of Seattle, the Crescent, of Spokane, and Bailey Brothers of Eureka, will be buyer and will have complete charge of women's coats, suits, dresses, furs, blouses, sweaters, Petticoats, etc. Miss Emma P. Heitz, formerly with Gumble Brothers, New York; Strawbridge and Clothier, Philadelphia, and Mandel Bros., Chicago, will have charge of the buying and handling of hosiery, underwear, boudoir caps, etc. She will make a specialty of smart apron frocks. Miss Minnie Hapke, formerly buyer for Daniels & Fisher Stores company, of Denver, and Hamburgers of Los Angeles, will have charge of the fells, velvets, metal brocades, gold and silver laces, etc. R. L. Dines, the fourth member of the firm, will be general manager of the store, and will have charge of the advertising and display.

This new establishment will not be connected with any outside concern. It is not a "chain" store. The various members of the firm will move to Glendale and will do everything they can to aid in the growth of the city.

Gathered About Town

He is just a tiny boy and his name is Bobbie. It was Monday morning—never "blue Monday" for a happy child—and mother was busy. So Bobbie had to amuse himself, and he was getting along famously. The new wash lady had arrived and she was a wonderful creature—unlike most people. She looked just like grandpa did when he had been mending the car and had grease all over his face; but her face, hands and arms were black and the hot, sudsy water seemingly made no impression on the "dirt."

Bobbie wondered, and in all his three years of experience, could find no solution of the mystery. At last he hit upon a plan. Just as the wash lady bent down to pick up more clothes he swiftly moistened his little finger and just touched her arm. The black did not come off! And Bobbie never did understand why both mother and the colored lady laughed so hard.

She was a sprightly young miss, and her vanity case only missed a trifle being as large as she. She tripped across the street, heedless of the fact that the man on the street car was ringing his bell for her to allow the car to pass. "They shall not pass," decided the maiden, though perhaps she did not frame the pledge in exactly those famous words.

So she waved her bag from him, intending to swing it jauntily as she forged ahead toward the opposite curb. But alas! the "best laid plans of mice and men" are often disarranged by lesser trifles than a vanity case, whose treacherous clasp slipped and spilled the contents in all directions.

Two vivid sport handkerchiefs fluttered happily away on the summer breeze, never to be seen again. A lip stick perversely rolled into the crack of the car track and refused to be dislodged, while a nice, little combination powder and rouge box, the purchase of which had made a $5 bill ready for the hospital, rolled into the muddy gutter. Her memorandum pad was well-bred enough not to try to escape, but the accompanying pencil was not the kind to miss such an opportunity to see the wide, wide world.

Of course, there were other articles in the box—a box of mascara, an envelope of beauty spots, which scattered its contents of stars, crescents and squares on the pavement; a bit of lace to be matched, a letter, a gentleman's visiting card, another of the same, and still a third to keep the first company, a tiny bottle of perfume, which was immediately smashed on the pavement; a number of various types of hairpins, a comb, a string of beads, one earring in the last stages of dejection.

Gallant bystanders at once rushed to the assistance of the damsel in distress, and all retrievable property was assembled. After the street car had at last gone on its way, with many baleful glances from the conductor, one particularly attentive gentleman inquired anxiously, "But what became of that Helen, anyway!"

NEW CREATIONS OF SILVERSMITHS IN WHITE GOLD

Alloy of Nickel Gives Color to Popular Precious Metal

The silversmith and the jeweler seem to have felt the artistic impulse, and the restless desire for change, to an even greater extent than some of the other creators of adornments and the shops in this line are showing some very pretty and interesting things.

For instance the writer was halted at the window of Arthur Dibern by disks and ovals of embossed and engraved silver which finally suggested themselves as possibly mats for hot dishes, and Mr. Dibern admitted the guess was right and that they were faced underneath with heavy felt. There is the greater need, he indicated, because of the partial retirement of the tablecloth in favor of the dolly, which so well displays beautiful mahogany.

Another thing quite new is the "white gold" which is an 18-carat gold with an alloy of nickel. The flavor won by platinum has invited this combination, which is very much of a fad at present, and which can be seen in almost every form from the wrist-bag vanity case to the bar-pin and wrist watch. It is more expensive than the yellow gold, but less costly than platinum. It has the merit, of course, of not tarnishing.

Silver as an alloy with gold makes a beautiful green precious metal, which Mr. Dibern says is also used to a considerable extent with popularity only second to the white gold.

'DUST FLOWER' CLOSING TONIGHT

Last of Exceptionally Popular Film to Be Shown Sept. 8

There was shown at the Glendale theater during the last two nights a new Basil King photoplay, "The Dust Flower," his first contribution to the screen since his marvelous "Earthbound" of two seasons ago. It closes at the Glendale Friday. Both productions were made by Goldwyn. "The Dust Flower" was worth waiting two years for. It is a natural, human, every-day picture of life as it is known to all of us. While it does not have the appeal to the human desire to know what awaits the soul after death that "Earthbound" had, it clings closely to the reality in which we all live, struggle and occasionally win through to happiness.

Rowland V. Lee directed "The Dust Flower" with the active assistance of the author who was on the lot every day while his novel was being pictured. They have made a tremendously effective photodrama with an appeal that will strike home to every human being who sees it. The cast is as fine and outstanding as was that seen in "Earthbound." Helene Chadwick and James Rennie are the featured players. Others in the cast are Claude Gillingwater, who displays a feeling for picture acting as true and human and pleasing as was his stage acting; Mona Kingsley, the striking beauty who supported Grant Mitchell in "A Tailor Made Man," Edward Pell and George Periolat, well-known on both stage and screen.

"Oh, there is never room for any money after I get the other things I have to have in my bag," was the blithe response.

Words and phrases of common usage often have queer meanings for children. Even as with you and I, such was the case with little Mary. She had often heard the classic question: "Well, is it hot enough for you?"

And she had puzzled and pondered over the large number of persons who were asked this same question, for surely it must mean that anyone thus addressed had previously been noted for his love of warm weather.

It took several summers as hot as this one to educate Mary in the true meaning of the question.

Jimmy is eight, Dick is six, and their small, but important, sister is just "half past three." However, as seemingly does not enter into the question, for Helen's word is law with the two boys, and they are very proud of their sister.

However, one day Jimmy felt that it was time to assert his rights. So he proceeded to assert them and discovered, as have so many of his older and perhaps wiser brothers, the fallacy of the "weaker sex" idea. Helen simply took what she wanted and kept it. Forthwith, Master Jimmy took the matter to a higher court and informed mother of the trouble. He closed his plea with the touching statement: "I'd just getting tired of that Helen, anyway!"

GELMOR RENEWS HIS LEASE ON BRAND

Makes 250 Suits in His Two Stores in Glendale During Season

A. Gelmor, the tailor, has just signed a lease for another three years stay in his present quarters. From a very small beginning Mr. Gelmor has built up a big business and now has the reputation of handling the best lines of goods and giving a service and satisfaction that attracts the better class of trade.

He made 250 suits at his two

A. GELMOR
Who Made Success in Glendale
stores in Glendale the past season, and says that he expects to make 500 during the fall and winter seasons. Mr. Gelmor has a very large and varied stock, and his prices and quality are big features in his growing business. Mr. Gelmor is an expert tailor himself and only employs high class men. He recently added the second store, the Merino Tailors on North Brand, to his business, and has a first class tailor and designer in charge. He makes a feature of $35 suits at his North Brand store.

too, and, though it may pay to advertise, the advisability of such a sign as this is to be questioned. It was at a South Spring street cafe in Los Angeles, and, perhaps due to the H. C. of L., all figures had been removed. The sign read: "Angel Cafe, Meals—and Up." One wonders.

CHOCOLATE BLANC MANGE
Four tablespoons cocoa or one square of chocolate, one 14 teaspoon cinnamon. Add to cornstarch pudding. Cover with marshmallow whip. Serve with cream, chocolate sauce and nuts.

BOSTON BROWN HASH
Chop remains of steaks, roasts or stews very fine. Grease a deep pie dish. Put a layer of mashed potatoes (cold left-over ones will answer) in the bottom of the dish, then a layer of meat, then a layer of stale bread crumbs, sprinkle with salt and pepper, a bit of butter, moisten with half a cup of beef gravy, then add another layer of potatoes. Dip a knife into milk and smooth the top. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. Serve hot. Green pepper chopped very fine may be added to flavor.

Tailors to Ladies and Men

Fall Opening Announcement

Glendale, Calif., Sept. 8, 1922.

Dear Patrons:

We are tempted to write you a long letter, telling you about our new showing of Fall and Winter suitings.

But what's the use?

A ten-minute "look in" will give you a better idea of what we have gathered for you than we could give you in a ten page letter.

The stuff is well selected, if we do say it ourselves; both as to quality and good-sense designs.

We want you to see them and select your piece before some other fellow with taste similar to yours, picks your favorite.

We can make a suit for you that will prove that good tailoring is a mighty fine art and not a mere mechanical trade. But, first, come and see the showing before the choicest fabrics are appropriated.

FREE

This Coupon Worth $5.00
To each purchaser of a suit during the opening until September 15th. A credit of $5.00 will be given if this coupon is presented.

An all-day picnic will be held Saturday at Brookside park, Pasadena, by the members of the Sunday School girls' class of the Burbank First Presbyterian church.

The girls will leave Burbank at 7 o'clock. Each girl will take sandwiches and one side dish, the varieties of food to be served for lunch.

The girls will be accompanied by their teacher, J. P. Gibbs, and by G. I. Cook. The members of the class who are scheduled to make the trip are:

CITY ACCEPTS OFFER OF TWENTY ACRES FOR NEW CIVIC CENTER, PART REVENUE FROM TRACT SALE

B. W. Marks, of Frank Meline Company, Makes Sensational Offer to Burbank, Which Would Mark Epoch in History of City

CITY TRUSTEES VOTE TO ACCEPT OFFER Public Buildings in Proposed New Civic Center to Be Erected From "Civic Center and Park Fund," According to the Terms

The first official step towards the creation of a new civic center in Burbank, which is expected to be the biggest development in Burbank in the history of the city, was made by the members of the city trustees at their meeting Tuesday night when they unanimously voted to accept an offer made to the city by B. W. Marks, member of the firm of Frank Meline company and the originator of Woodland Heights, the "dream city."

Mr. Marks' offer is to deed the city a strip of land on West San Fernando boulevard for a civic center, the strip containing approximately 20 acres, and also to donate to the city 10 per cent of the receipts from sale of property in tract No. 3548, property in Rancho Providencia and also the land known as Stough ranch.

The proposition is the outgrowth of Mr. Marks' plans and aspirations for years, it is said.

The deeding of the property to the city of Burbank and also the drawing of the contract for 10 per cent of the money derived from the sale of property is to be made within 60 days from the date of the offer, which was made in writing on Sept. 5 last, according to the terms of the offer.

The proposition, in case that it goes through, will mark an epoch in the history of Burbank and will be the biggest accomplishment ever made in the city.

Sooner or later, the plan will change the civic center of the city from its present location on North Olive avenue to West San Fernando boulevard.

This will mean the growth of the city in a very rapid manner in the western part, which is a newer part of the city.

The property in question is bounded as follows:

San Fernando boulevard and West Sixth street on the south and north and by Amherst drive and Myrtle avenue on the east and west.

The buildings proposed to be erected on the civic center site are a city hall, city automobile park, city library, public market and all other civic buildings, with the exception of school buildings.

The proposal is to erect these buildings from the "civic center and park fund," which will be created and maintained for some time by the 10 per cent revenue to be derived by the city from the sale of the property.

The terms of the offer do not ask that the proposed city buildings be erected at once, but whenever deemed necessary.

Mr. Marks states that "I will deed, or have deeded," the property in question within the next 60 days. The Frank Meline company is not mentioned in the offer, the owner of the property not being stated, although the "Southern California corporation" is mentioned in the offer.

Mr. Marks is widely known in Burbank. It was he who was instrumental in the city of Burbank being deeded 130 acres for a park in the Stough canyon vicinity.

FASHION REVUE TICKETS ARE ON SALE

Pendroy Benefit for Tuesday Club at Glendale Theater, Sept. 26

Tickets for the fashion revue, which is to be put on by Mrs. Earl Pendroy at the Glendale theatre September 26 as a benefit for the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club, are now on sale at the theatre, at Pendroy's store and in the hands of members of the club, of which Mrs. A. H. Montgomery is chairman.

There will be no reserved seats at the matinee, for which the tickets cost 50 cents plus the war tax of 5 cents. At the evening review all seats will be reserved and will sell for 75 cents plus war tax.

As it is to be a very beautiful and interesting display, interspersed with an unusual and highly entertaining program, patrons will do well to secure their reservations early.

The next step in the matter is now up to Mr. Marks, as the city officials have accepted the offer.

In case that the transaction is completed it will mean an unusually big thing for the city. City Clerk Webster says that while he was a county official in former years a similar offer was made to the county, which turned out to be a big help to the county.

All of the Burbank officials and others who learned of the proposition are enthused with the idea.

LIQUOR CHARGE SPLITS EAGLE ROCK FIRM

Wilson of Haberdasher Shop Eliminated From New Store

The announcement was made Wednesday that Amos O. Vaughn has formally dissolved his partnership with E. W. Wilson following the latter's arrest at 1 o'clock Saturday morning on West Washington boulevard, in Los Angeles, on a charge of transporting liquor and driving a car while in an intoxicated condition.

Wilson, who was driving Vaughn's machine, was arrested at 1 o'clock Saturday morning by County Motor Officer Bud Clark. The machine was turned over to the federal authorities and Wilson taken to the city jail in Los Angeles.

His disappearance remained a mystery to his associates in Eagle Rock until notice was seen in a Los Angeles paper in regard to his arrest. Just where he was being confined they were unable to ascertain until Tuesday when Attorney Lynch of Los Angeles came to Eagle Rock to cash a check for $25 which he said was the fee for securing Wilson's release under $1,000 bond. When Lynch attempted to cash the check he learned that Wilson had drawn $300 from the local bank, cashed a number of checks under the firm's name and had made good his getaway. The cashing of these checks was reported to city authorities and $100 reward has been offered for Wilson's apprehension.

Following Wilson's release under bond he is said to have appeared in the company of an unknown man at the Wilson & Vaughn clothing store at 119 East Colorado boulevard at 2:30 Sunday morning. The cashing of these checks was reported to city authorities and $100 reward has been offered for Wilson's apprehension.

That Amos O. Vaughn is deserving of the loyal support of Eagle Rock people is openly voiced by many today who are familiar with

You needn't fear the Wolf when the door is your own

Have you been toiling ten or twenty years to "keep the wolf from the door?" If you have, it's proof that you have not taken out the surest insurance against the dreaded monster—that of owning your own home. The wolf seldom stops at your own home door—it is almost always at the door of a rented house or apartment that he tarries and eventually finds entrance.

Think it over. Consider the luxuries you are indulging in, including the luxury of piling up old rent receipts. One each month—year after year—until you have a hundred or two souvenirs which you would be glad to dispose of for a postage stamp.

Business men are constantly building and rebuilding. It is part of their success. Make the principle part of your own life. Start to acquire a home today while you are able. It will be the dearest spot on earth for many a long year, and in old age or sickness will be a tower of protection over which or into which no "wolf" of misfortune can leap or find entrance.

Our service department is ready to furnish you with a choice of thousands of plans of modern, convenient and within-your-reach homes. We'd be glad to talk it over with you.

the case, Vaughn is only 22 years of age, came to Eagle Rock about one month ago from Vermont. His acquaintance with Wilson was very slight, as he met him in the desert en route to California. When Vaughn reached Eagle Rock he decided to invest his small capital left him by his aunt and was persuaded to enter into business activities in Eagle Rock. He was entirely lacking in business experience, having lived on a farm most of his life, and determined to hire Wilson as his manager. Wilson & Vaughn then became the name of the men's clothing store, and the new business met with very great success for the first month. It was just after the first month's receipts had been balanced and the second month's rent paid that Wilson made his disappearance.

Should Vaughn be given leniency, which he seems to deserve, he will probably continue his business successfully and manage the payment of his bills tendered by his creditors in spite of the loss incurred through his former partner. Vaughn's machine was turned over to Glenn Shields by federal authorities Tuesday and is being held as security at the present time.

SEWER FARM AND BIG RESERVOIR PROPOSITIONS TO BE VOTED ON BY THE TAXPAYERS OF BURBANK

Members of Burbank Board of Trustees Unanimously
Vote in Favor of Resolution for Sewer
Farm and Reservoir in City
ELECTION ON BOND ISSUES TO BE CALLED
City Officials Would Appropriate $25,000 for the Establishment of Sewer Farm and $50,000 for Construction of Reservoir

A resolution for the establishment of a sewer farm in Burbank and also a big water reservoir, was unanimously voted for by the members of the Burbank board of trustees at their meeting Tuesday night.

The resolution calls for an appropriation of $25,000 for the establishment of a sewer farm and $50,000 for the construction of a reservoir, the voters of Burbank at an election to be called later to decide if either plan, or both, shall be adopted.

The date of election is to be named later. Both issues will be voted on at the one time, saving the taxpayers the costs of two elections.

It is generally believed that both propositions will be decided in the affirmative when voted on.

At a previous election the sewer farm proposition was defeated only by a small majority, and since that time it is believed that the citizens of Burbank have decided that in order to be a modern city a sewer system is necessary.

The reservoir has been dreamed of by the city officials, especially by City Engineer Miller, for some time, as the proposed reservoir would fill the needs of Burbank for many years.

It has been suggested that the reservoir be constructed in the canyon near the mouth of Stough canyon, an ideal site.

This canyon in question is at the head of Walnut street and is located on property that was donated to the city for park and other purposes.

The details of both propositions will be worked out later.

The whole city will aid in the construction of the sewer farm in case the bonds are voted. The $25,000 bonds are for the sewer farm and do not include the sewer lines.

While the matter of sewer lines will not be taken up unless the sewer farm bonds are voted, the costs of constructing the sewer lines will apply only to the section of the city benefited.

The cost of the proposed reservoir should not cause any worry on the part of the Burbank taxpayers, as the official records of the city reveal that the public service department, which includes the water department, is making money for the city despite the paying of interest and principal on the old bonds.

The surplus of the public service for the last fiscal year was as follows:

Electric, $14,566.09.
Water, $2,925.39.

The surplus in the water department is after the principal and interest on the bonds of that department as well as all other expenses, were paid.

The original total bonded indebtedness of the public service department was $236,000, a much larger sum than the proposed $50,000 bonds for the new reservoir, which would mean that the new debt would be much lighter load to carry than the old one.

Furthermore, the revenues of the public service department is increasing, according to both Engineer Miller and Chief Clerk Dort of that department.

The receipts for August, last, amounted to $11,705.00, the first time that they were above the $10,000 mark during one month.

The yearly interest on the bonded indebtedness of the department is $1,028.37, and the yearly principal to be paid on the old bonds is $1,750.

The revenue of the department for the five months ending July 31, last, was $45,101.33, which added with the August receipts, total $56,806.96, which is for the first half of the 1922-23 fiscal year.

This means that the total revenues of the public service department for the present fiscal year will be at least $100,000, which will be far above the expenses of the department with the interest and principal of the bonds included.

REDWOOD LEAGUE SAVES MORE BIG TIMBER

Stand in Humboldt County
Is Preserved by Purchase

A beautiful stand of Redwood timber in Humboldt county, Calif., about 240 miles north of San Francisco, has been saved as the Gould Memorial grove, through the efforts of the Save the Redwoods League and the State Forestry board. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Mr. J. D. Grant of San Francisco, chairman of the board of directors of the league. The piece in question consists of 60 acres of some of the finest Redwoods and is located directly on the state highway from San Francisco to Eureka.

Through the mediation of the Save the Redwoods league, financial aid was given toward the purchase of this grove by Mrs. Frederic Saltonstall Gould of Santa Barbara and it has therefore been named in honor of her husband, who was an ardent naturalist and a great lover of trees.

The vicar was anxious to introduce some new hymn books into the church and arranged with his clerk that the latter should give out a notice regarding them after the sermon. The clerk, however, had an important notice of his own with reference to the baptism of infants.

Accordingly, at the close of the sermon he rose and announced: "All those with children whom they wish to have baptized should send in their names at once."

The vicar, who was deaf, assumed that the clerk was giving out the hymn book notice. So he arose and said:

"And I should like to add, for the benefit of those who haven't any, that they may be obtained any day at 4 o'clock—the ordinary little ones at a shilling each and the special ones at one and sixpence each."

DELUSIONS CHALICE

By HIRAM A. GRAVES

A pretty little maiden, with a silly little giggle;
With the cutest, curly bob-hair and a captivating wiggle,
Neatly manicured and scented, with a most aesthetic grace,
(And a lot of paint and powder on her saucy little face),
Came ambling down the avenue on a balmy even in summer,
Causing girls to mutter "hussy" and the boys to cry "a hummer."
While at home, her mother labored o'er a washtub, hot and steaming;
Her back was bent with toiling, and her tired old eyes were streaming
At remembrance of the chiding from her foolish, wayward daughter,
Whom she tried her best to counsel, as her simple faith had taught her;
Tried to warn her of the pitfalls into which her course would bring her,
In the world of twinkling white lights, where the Tempter loves to linger
'Mid the idle, laughing chatter and the syncopated jingling;
Where the merry whirl and clatter set the youthful blood to tingling;
Where the fox-trot, jazz and two-step lend a fancied zest to dining;
Where the clouds of care and worry seem to show a silver lining.

For this silly little maiden, with the bobbed and frizzled curls,
Was troubled with the trouble that is troubling many girls;
For she thought she was beloved by a handsome, classy chappie
Whom she really thought she'd marry and forever more be happy.
He was foreman in a laundry where this girlie fed a mangle.
He had caused her heart to flutter (and the other girls to wrangle),
When he showed decided preference for this newest acquisition.
To his forces he was "bossing" (and who sensed the new condition).
For one girl held his fancy when she showed an inclination
To accept his bids for joy-rides, or a dinner invitation;
And to think this "doll-faced baby" should upset her calculations,
She believed was rank injustice (in view of past relations!).
To her chums she told her troubles; they were all quite sympathetic,
And in schemes against her rival they were very energetic.
But the foreman knew his business—and because 'twas he who hired 'em,
When he observed their little schemes, incontinently "fired 'em."

So the silly little girlie, through her mad infatuation,
Became the butt of scandal; and gave up her situation.
For the usual result of such folly came upon her,
And she pleaded with her lover to preserve her "sacred honor!"
Did he do it? Don't believe it! For the selfish, scheming fellow
Exhibited, as usual, a terrific streak of yellow;

All the misery and sorrow; all the sadness and disgrace.
Now, alone, her poor old mother, o'er her washtub hot and steaming,
Bends her back, so old and crooked, and the scalding tears are streaming Down her cheeks, so wan and withered, as she prays to God, while weeping,

To forgive her wayward lassie—WHO BENEATH THE SOD IS SLEEPING!

Still the merry whirl and clatter, and the noisy, jazzy jingling,
Still the idle, laughing chatter, set the youthful blood to tingling;
Still the syncopate and the two-step lend a fancied zest to dining;
Still the clouds of care and worry seem to show a silver lining.

But, amid the noise and chatter, 'mid the jangling and the jingling,
Still the grinning Prince of Evil with the revelers is mingling;
He is seeking out the victims of his despicable malice.
To their lips they all are lifting (tho they know it not) HIS CHALICE!
To the bitter dregs they'll drain it; tho its bitterness is hidden,
While they laugh, and drink, and toddle; while they taste the fruits forbidden.

But as surely as they drink it, with its giver they must reckon;
And whenever he is ready he will surely to them beckon.
So, beware! O pretty lassie, how you jeopardize your chances,
When forsaking home and mother for the syncopated dances;
For the fancied fond embraces of a "devil of a fellow"
Who will cause you loads of sorrow WHEN HE SHOWS HIS STREAK
OF YELLOW!

For a man who'd take a maiden to a "jazzbo" cabaret
Is a man who can't be trusted to withstand the light of day.
When a man begins to woo you; when he pleads to be your lover,
Take him home; nor give him courage 'TILL HE'S BEEN APPRAISED
BY MOTHER!!!

GERMANY'S OUTLOOK IS GLOOMY DESPITE INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY, RETURNED LOCAL TOURIST SAYS

A. E. Dufer, Assistant Cashier of Burbank First National Bank, Tells of Tour in Switzerland, France, Germany, Belgium, England

EXTENDED TRIP LASTED NEARLY 3 MONTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Dufer and Mr. and Mrs. A. Schelling Return to Homes in Burbank; Ocean Trip on "Paris" Lasted Less Than Week

Industrial conditions in Germany are excellent, but owing to the big depreciation of the mark, the inhabitants are living in a "hand-to-mouth" manner without having much knowledge as to what the next day will bring forth. Such is an opinion expressed by A. E. Dufer, assistant cashier of the First National bank in Burbank, who, together with Mrs. Dufer and also Mr. and Mrs. A. Schelling, all of Burbank, has returned after an extensive tour in Europe, the trip being through several countries of that continent.

The members of the party arrived in Burbank last Sunday. They left on the tour June 7, the tour lasting nearly three months.

The Germans are struggling hard to get on their feet again, but their financial troubles are huge and the future for them is far from bright, according to Mr. Dufer.

Mr. Dufer was back on the job at the First National yesterday, and dozens of friends called on him during the day, the assistant cashier being forced to repeat the story of his trip several times.

While he enjoyed the tour and feels more than repaid for his time and money, Mr. Dufer says he is glad to be back in his home town.

France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and England were the countries visited by the local party.

The trip across the Atlantic and back was made on the steamship "Paris," the trip either way lasting six and a half days.

The party landed overseas at Harve, France, going from there to Paris, where three days were spent. From France they went to Switzerland, where the party visited "hundreds of places," as Mr. Dufer expressed it.

From a scenic standpoint, the visits in Switzerland and Germany were far the best of all, he said.

The party visited in Germany after leaving Switzerland, the cities along their route in Germany being Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Mainz, Coblenz, Köln or Cologne, and Aachen.

They next went to Belgium, stopping in Brussels and Ostend, going next to England, where they visited in Dover, London and Plymouth.

Much pretty scenery was found in all of the old countries, and hundreds of places of interest were found.

The trip was very enjoyable and pleasing, no accident or mishap of any kind marring the pleasures of the extended tour.

While the hotel rates and other expenses in the old country were high, the charges were more than offset by the rate of exchange, particularly in Germany, Mr. Dufer said.

The entire tour was made by rail and water. The very best of hospitality was found all along the route.

YOUTH 'WITHOUT A COUNTRY' FOUND IN BURBANK

Admits Knowing of His Many Crimes, Short Other "Dope"

Found—A youth who admits that he steals horses as a means of living, that he has been in a reform school, that he has been in an insane asylum, that he is guilty of two crimes for which he was arrested by a Burbank officer, that he does not know his birthplace and that he has no address at present.

However, the party in question said that he "did know" that his name is Louis Thomas Doursquette, that he is of French descent and that he is 19 years old.

It is charged that he stole a horse belonging to Peter Lopez of San Fernando and a saddle from the Edison station at Selmar, Calif.

He was arrested by Deputy Kyle and turned over to the city marshal at San Fernando, where the youth will be arraigned on the two charges.

Listening in on Eve

CUPID IN DISGUISE

"I met Peter Williams today," said the little blonde. "He looked kind of glum and down in the mouth. Usually he's smiling. I wonder what can be the matter. Seen Edith lately?"

The girl with the glasses picked out a particularly fat chocolate from the box on her lap. "I saw Edith last night, and, strange to say, she looked pretty sober, too."

"Probably they have had a misunderstanding," said the little blonde. "They were altogether too loving, I believe, in holding an admirer off a bit."

"Is that the way you treat John?" asked the girl with the glasses.

"Certainly," replied the blonde.

"Here comes Edith now," said the girl with the glasses. "Hello, dear," and she made room for her on the couch. "Have a chocolate."

Edith shook her head and sighed. "The blonde and the girl with the glasses exchanged glances."

"What's the trouble, dear?" cooed the blonde.

"Everything," replied Edith. "I just feel like lying down and giving up the ghost. What's the use of everything, I say. I'm through with life—come on, oblivion."

"Gracious!" said the girl with the glasses; "where in the world did you hear that? Really it can't be so bad! Come, we'll help you from our large store of experience. Blondy is engaged and I hope to be if the person only picks up courage to say the word. He's peaky, slow."

"Be thankful he is," said Edith.

"I wish Peter had been."

"All right," said the blonde; "go on, dear." She leaned forward, her face full of interest.

"You talk like a couple of experts," said Edith. "Well, listen, the two of you, and I dare you to tell me the way out of this mess. Peter's rich uncle is in town. He's absolutely necessary to Peter's future. He has loads of money and Peter has always been his favorite. Tuesday he arrived in town unexpectedly, and was naturally anxious to see Peter, as well as the girl whom Peter had picked out to marry, meaning me."

"Now, to go back a bit. Mother bought a set of books from an agent a few months ago, paying for them once a month on the installment plan. The agent was an elderly man, very persistent and talkative. He irritated Mother. In the first place, she decided she did not want the books, and then, again, it was a bit of a drain on her spare cash, every month, sure as fate, with no letup in sight. And, anyway, she never had the time to read the books. So she told the agent, and he was very sorry, but she had signed a contract, which was true. Mother always thought he was a nice old gentleman until then.

"The whole tragedy hinges on the miserable agent," continued Edith. "Mother caught a glimpse of an old gentleman coming up the path. Of course it must be that awful collector. So, not being equal to facing him herself, she sent me to the door. I am afraid I gave him a piece of my mind, because he had been bothering mother so. He tried to get in a word, but I wouldn't let him. Finally he got very red in the face, bowed and went away."

"The next day Peter called me up. His voice shook and he was dreadfully upset. But when I learned that the old gentleman whom I had positively excoriated the night before was Peter's rich uncle, girls, I nearly fainted. Peter said he had tried to explain, but it had only made matters worse, for judging from the tongue-lashing I had given him, Peter's uncle thinks I am what he calls a shrew, and he says if Peter marries me it will ruin his life and furthermore he'll cut him off."

"How exciting," said the girl with the glasses.

"It seems," continued Edith, "that Peter's uncle had an unfortunate matrimonial experience in his youth. The wife had a tongue. I guess the recollection is not pleasant."

"It looks pretty bad," said the little blonde, "old men are so obstinate, especially when they are rich."

"Why, here comes Peter now!" said the girl with the glasses.

"And he's smiling, too."

"It's all right, Edith," said Peter, ignoring the other girls in his excitement. "Uncle wants to apologize to you. That agent sold him a set of books today, and now uncle does not know why he bought it. The agent simply hypnotized him. He says that nobody but you can find the right words to fit the rascal. We are to take lunch with uncle, so hurry!"

"She's a lucky girl, after all," mused the blonde. "She should be grateful to that collector."

"Let's hope she will be," said the girl with the glasses. "Here's the last chocolate, too. Suppose we divide it."

WRIT OF REVIEW CASE DELAYED TEN DAYS

Judge Crawford Granted
Opportunity to File
His Answer

The hearing of the writ of review asked by J. W. Fawkes of his cases heard in the Burbank recorder's court has been postponed in order that Judge Crawford may file a written answer to Fawkes' petition. The preliminary hearing was held in the superior court at Los Angeles Tuesday, the court giving Judge Crawford 10 days in which to file his answer.

The traffic violation charge against Fawkes will be heard in the local court Sept. 15, Judge Decker of San Fernando to hear the case.

Boy Scout Sees Another Person Do "Good Turn"

It happened in front of the Burbank station of the Original Stage line.

The driver of the bus was impatient to start. So were his patrons.

An elderly lady took her time in climbing the steps into the bus. She climbed out. The driver started to go.

"Wait a minute, sonny, until I brush the dust off my shoes," ordered the elderly woman.

Everybody present laughed, the woman climbed back into her seat, the driver started the bus, the nervous, impatient appearances of the patrons having changed to that of "Oh, let's be happy."

To the onlookers the scene was both amusing and worthy of deep thought, according to Donald Catlin, Burbank boy scout, who witnessed the event.

HUNDREDS FLOCK TO OPENING OF MARDI GRAS CELEBRATION HELD BY BURBANK POLICEMEN

Big Crowd at First Night of Attraction Enjoys the Many Features on Grounds; Manager Simpson Pays Concession Fee

LOCAL POLICE EMERGENCY FUND ENRICHED

"Oklahoma Bill's" Wild West Show, With Expert Men and Women Riders, Will Start at Mardi Gras With Performance Tonight

A big crowd shared in the joys of the opening of the mardi gras in Burbank last night, the event, which is being staged under the auspices of the Burbank police department, proving to be one of the biggest and best of its kind ever held in the city.

Hundreds visited the grounds and took part in the program, the attendance at the opening night being estimated at 2,000, despite the counter attractions at Glendale and Tujunga.

All of the attractions were ready for the opening night with the exception of the "Oklahoma Bill" Wild West show, this attraction to be ready for tonight's performances.

A share of the proceeds goes to the Burbank police emergency fund, which was enriched by the liberality of the many persons present last night.

Manager Simpson of the mardi gras met his requirements in every way, turning over to the Burbank Daily Press the $50 fee he promised for the concession rights to the mardi gras.

This $50 goes to the police emergency fund, as will a share of the money derived from the rides and shows.

All of the shows, rides and concessions were well patronized last night.

One of the popular attractions was the huge Ferris wheel, dozens of persons, especially young couples, riding on the big wheel to their hearts' content.

The youngsters flocked to the merry-go-round, where they had an opportunity to ride real live ponies instead of wooden horses. Twenty-four Arabian shetland ponies were secured for that purpose, and all of the ponies had plenty to do.

"Make the pretty girl show her garters," proved a stellar attraction for the young men, who spent both money and energy in trying to hit with baseballs the lever that would cause the girl in a case to drop from her seat. Yeh, some were successful.

Watching a man fight a crocodile and a woman sew and do other stunts under the water proved to be another popular indoor sport. The show is that of the Faust & Worthy combined shows. The good work of these two performers in the water being worthy of especial mention.

"And you're going to meet a dark, handsome stranger" was the prophesy heard by many girls who visited the fortune teller on the grounds.

The owners of the hot dog, ice cream and watermelon stands found plenty to do in catering for the thirst and appetites of the many present.

The "Oklahoma Bill" Wild West show will open with all its glory tonight, the opening performance of the noted riders to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Oklahoma Bill, who, together with Jack Hoxie, widely known movie daredevil, own the show, is a full-blooded Cherokee Indian and does not know what fear is when it comes to riding wild horses.

Wearing his broad smile, Jack Hoxie was on the grounds last night and was admired by the many movie fans. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hoxie.

One of the lady riders of the show is Arizona Anne, formerly of "101" ranch and one of the best female riders in the world. She plans to ride "Skyrocket," the wildest horse owned by the company.

Several full-blooded Apache Indians are members of the show. They are fearless riders, all of them riding bareback.

George Saura, cowboy from Universal City, and who has taken part in many exciting western motion pictures, is another member of the troupe.

"Wild Johnny" Blocker of Texas, the boy with the "big loop," will reveal his artistic abilities with the rope.

Kell, the bareback clown rider, who has just left the Sells Floto circus to join the "Oklahoma Bill" outfit, is included in the list of fancy riders.

Si Perkins and Arizona Kenny are two other members of the troupe who are experts in their line.

The Wild West outfit have offered $100 to the owner of any horse that they are unable to ride. They want "outlaws" to be brought in order to show their skill.

The members of the Burbank police department are well pleased with the success of the opening night of the mardi gras and greatly appreciate the support of the event on the part of the citizens of Burbank and vicinity.

The mardi gras will continue throughout the remainder of the week, the celebration to close with a big night Saturday.

LIQUOR CHARGES TO BE HEARD TUESDAY

Usual 'Speeders' Session' Is Postponed Week
by Judge

The cases of H. E. Hastings and Harry Spates, two colored men arrested in Burbank recently on the charge of transporting liquor, was set for hearing before Judge Crawford in the recorder's court for next Tuesday.

The driver, Hastings, was fined $50 on the charge of speeding, following his plea of guilty when the preliminary arraignment was held before Judge Crawford.

The prisoners pleaded not guilty to the liquor charge, furnishing $300 in cash bail and their auto, which had been previously held for bail, was returned to them.

Because Judge Crawford had a case to attend in Los Angeles last Tuesday, the usual "Speeders' Session" this week was postponed until next Tuesday, when a double session will be held.

The case of J. W. Fawkes, who is charged with violation of the traffic law, will be heard Sept. 15 by Judge Decker of San Fernando, the hearing to be in the local court.

PROBABLY A DISTRIBUTOR

"Mr. Grabsoin, there's an agent outside."

"Haven't I told you time and again that I won't see agents? But wait a minute. Agent for what?"

"He says his headquarters are in Savannah."

"Let the fellow in. It's a cinch he's not selling books."

OLD DEL MONTE COURSE CHANGED

DEL MONTE, Calif., Sept. 8.—California golfers who have habituated themselves to the old Del Monte course, will find many changes this year in the famous course.

The first nine holes were done over last fall, and the newly arranged second nine are to be opened up in a few days. Several of the objectionable holes of the old course have been eliminated and the new course is declared ideal for championship play.

The tenth hole has a new tee, located opposite the ninth green, and there is a new green on a knoll some 30 yards to the right of the former location. It makes 410 yards with a high hand elbow through the fairway. Well-placed shots are required to reach the banked-up green.

The eleventh has a new tee under the trees, opening up a 210 yard hole. The fairway has been trapped to catch topped balls, and the straight shooter has a distinct advantage, as he should have.

The thirteenth has been changed, making it 410 yards back across a wooded canyon. It will require a carry of 130 to 140 yards, and then two good shots to reach the green. In the face of a head-on wind it will make a good five-par hole.

The fourteenth is a one shooter, to range from 125 to 140 yards. It is a beautifully arranged hole. The green is arranged with a trap in front, and is raised in back so that the golfer must pinch and hole his tee shot.

The fifteenth and sixteenth have been materially improved with growing turf in the fairways. The punchbowl seventeenth, always popular, has now been altered. The eighteenth has been trapped to the left and a right of the green.

A committee will go over the new course to consider the recommendation that will be made to the California Golf association for the holding of the annual championships on the course between September 2 and 10.

The Pebble Beach course, also one of the most popular in California, has also been greatly improved during the past few months. A new raised green has been built in front of the lodge. With the raised tee, calling for an accurate shot with the ocean as a hazard, it makes a 535 yard hole. The fairway has been widened, making a big improvement over the old eighteenth.

The Pebble Beach course is to be used the first day of the qualifying round by the lower handicapped players, while the higher handicapped players will hold sway at Del Monte. The next day the players will alternate courses, thus requiring all contestants to play 18 holes on each links, with the total score of 36 holes to count in qualifying.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD FIRST MEETING OF SEASON

Burbank Girls Entertained at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Swall

Thirteen members of the Girl Scouts of Burbank were entertained Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Swall.

The meeting was the first one held by the Girl Scouts for several weeks, no meetings being held during the summer season. The meetings will be held weekly during the fall and winter season.

Tuesday night's affair was in the nature of a dinner party, chicken being one of the many items on the menu served by Mrs. Swall. The Swall residence was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Dancing, music and games were the diversions enjoyed by the girls.

NEW SEA PLANTS

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 8.—Many unusual deep sea plants, specimens of coral and bright colored seaweed, have been brought back from the South Seas by Prof. W. A. There is nothing less so than a "bathing beauty" that isn't.

THE DIFFERENCE

Sometimes when Pa gets mad because I break some of his household laws He says: "Look here, you rascal, you, I'll whale you, sir, that's what I'll do."

And Ma, she just turns up her nose And sits there in refined repose, And higher still her nose she tilts, And Pa don't whip me—he just wilts.

When Ma gets mad because I do Some little thing she said not to, She don't talk loud and wild, like dad, She just says: "Will, come here, my lad!"

And Pa don't get a chance to tilt His nose, and Ma, well, she don't wilt, She just leads Willie boy away Out to the shed and makes him lay Across her lap—it seems like play, But Willie don't sit down that day!

MISS ISABEL T. PELL, NEW YORK SOCIETY GIRL, WHO HAS CHOSEN A STAGE CAREER

Miss Isabel Townsend Pell, prominent in society and a member of the Pell and Townsend families, recently made her stage debut in New York in a small part in the Broadway production. She made her debut in society two years ago. Since then she has become well-known as a horsewoman both on Long Island and in Virginia. The photograph shows Miss Pell in her dressing room making up for the part of a maid.

Hard Hitting and Lively Ball

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—All this heavy hitting and most of the sloppy fielding being blamed on the lively ball. Infielders maintain that they have to stay back in the grass and pitchers claim they take their lives in their hands when they try to stop a drive off the bat.

One of the best pitchers in the game, however, is of the opinion that the lively ball is not altogether to blame for the terrific hitting of the present day.

"Babe Ruth more than anything else is responsible for the increase in long distance hitting," Urban Shocker, the great pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, said.

"Ruth made every player aspire to be a home run hitter. They come to the plate, take a toe-hold on the bat and swing. They connect just as many times as they used to, but their hits are all necessarily longer. Change in the pitching rules has been a factor, because batters have more confidence when they step up to the plate."

Shocker is one of the few remaining spitballers and he has made it a most effective weapon. He does not believe, however, that the use of foreign substance on the ball should be necessary to make a great pitcher.

"There always will be a way of putting a hook on the ball without beating the rules," he says. "Look at Joe Bush. He has perfected a fork ball and it has made a new pitcher out of him. He lets the ball go out between his index and second finger and it acts just like a spitter. There always will be some similar ways of getting an effective delivery without using resin, emery, powder or licorice."

Grover Alexander, another of the game's greatest pitchers, is of the opinion that the lively ball is responsible for loose baseball. He has the theory that the pitcher is almost removed from the line of defense and that 25 per cent more territory is forced upon the shortstop and the second baseman. Where pitchers used to average five or six assists per game, he maintains that under the present conditions a pitcher seldom gets more than one or two.

Something, however, has worked wonders in increasing batting. When Casey Stengel jumps from a .284 to a .370 hitter, and when Chick Galloway rises from the .265 to the .330 class, it needs some explanation. There are other notable instances. Fonseca of the Reds used to bat .260 and now is hitting .361; Grimes of the Cubs went from .321 to .363; Barnhart of the Pirates jumped from .258 to .343; Tierney of the Pirates deserted the .298 class and graduated to .371. Other examples there are, too numerous to mention.

With all the abuse that is heaped upon it, there is much to make the lively ball popular. The fans, of course, like hitting, as the increase in attendance shows. Also it is bringing up from lower classes fine fielding players who would never be in fast company if they weren't able to hit, for some strange reason or other.

CELEBRATION OF ADMISSION DAY IN CALIFORNIA

History of Events Dates Back Seventy-two Years

Probably the most significant day in the history of California, to those familiar with the colorful background of the "Poppy" state, is September 9, the anniversary of California's admission to the Union.

Though the general facts are common knowledge to Californians, the details of the first celebration bring out many sidelights worth mentioning. In the first place, the bill admitting California to the Union was signed by President Fillmore on September 9, 1850. News of the action of the president and congress did not reach San Francisco, however, until October 18 of that year, showing that a few things have happened since that time in speeding up the transit of news.

When San Francisco heard the glad tidings, she knew how to show her appreciation of a good thing. Newspapers telling the story sold at $5 a copy, and the entire population gathered at Portsmouth Square in a celebration that stands alone in its degree of intensity of feeling. Salutes were sounded from cannon, flags were unfurled, and California was generally beside herself with the joy of being an integral part of the United States.

The many delays encountered before finally securing admission may have been partly responsible for the nature of the celebration when it was finally learned that the thing had at last materialized. California had been urging her admission to the Union, but the trouble came when the slavery question was brought up as was a customary proceedings at that period of the country's history, when the addition of a new state meant life or death to the Union, according to the decision, whether the new state was to be slave or free. It remains a matter of much gratification to Californians today, to look back upon the critical period of the history of the United States and see that the people within the territory of California voted to enter the Union as a free state, and that California has remained a loyal part of the Union since the first day, when Fillmore signed the bill.

California government has always been a source of interest, as it received its official stamp in a most novel way. The necessity for a state constitution was felt long before California's formal entrance to the Union, and General Bennett Riley, who had the reins of government in his hands in 1849, called an assembly to meet September 1, 1849, at Monterey for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and make such laws as did not conflict with those of the United States.

General Riley's authority to call a constitutional assembly was questioned, as he was a military leader, and it was largely through the influence of Peter H. Burnett, who later succeeded Riley as the first governor of California, that a committee was finally appointed to call a convention of delegates to meet at the same time and place as Riley had first suggested.

Delegates, who were elected on August 1, 1849, met at this convention at Colton hall, in Monterey, and Dr. Robert Sample, veteran California editor, presided, with William G. Macy acting as secretary. The delegates, numbering 48, completed the constitution by October 13, 1849. It was voted upon and accepted by a 15 to 1 vote a month later, one-sixth of the population being represented in the vote.

One matter, which the constitution did not designate, was the seat of the state government. This matter was one of constant discussion until 1854, when Sacramento was finally chosen by the supreme court of the state. Up to that time, Sacramento had divided honors with San Jose, Vallejo and Benicia.

Since admission to the Union, the growth of California, and particularly of Los Angeles, has been most proverbial. The first census of Los Angeles was recorded in 1870, the total number of residents at that time being 46. In 1890, the population had grown to 365, an elapse of time of 30 years intervening. A century later, Los Angeles' population numbered 319,198. In the period from 1910 to 1920, that number has almost doubled, the latest census showing a count of 611,636.

The politics of California, placed under the spotlight of the statistician, shows a very strange swinging from the Democratic party to the Republican. The first six governors of California were Democrats. Then came Leland Stanford, the first Republican governor. Following his term, the public favor wavered between the two parties, until in 1903, Henry T. Gage took the chair for the Republican party. Since that time, the Republican element has carried the state, in the matter of choosing governors. Just what the outcome of the November elections will be cannot be stated with much precision, as elections throughout the country in the past year have shown up a most surprising peculiarity in the political condition of the country.

All Californians, however, are joining in the commemoration of California's admission to the Union Saturday, when California will pass her seventy-second anniversary as a state.
